Kopp Development Inc. is proud to present our FerrAlert HALO™ Series, ferromagnetic detectors for MRI safety. Our reputation and extensive field record speak for themselves. Today, FerrAlert™ products are being used in many well-known and respected medical centers.

FerrAlert HALO™

- Alarms ONLY upon detection of ferrous metals
- Pinpoints the location of the offending ferrous object right on the portal
- New adjustable portal width allows for a flawless, custom fit installation

Recently ferromagnetic detectors were endorsed by the American College of Radiology, and they are rapidly becoming the standard of care in the MRI suites.

FDA patient safety recognizes the new ACR Guidance Document and recommends it to all MRI providers.
